The image shows a close-up of a car's window with a fuel economy label. The label displays a city MPG of 35, a highway MPG of 45, and a combined MPG of 40. It also shows a savings of $1,750 over the life of the vehicle compared to a baseline. Below the car, a tablet displays the fueleconomy.gov website, which features a search bar, navigation links, and a prominent message: "Improved fuel economy saves you money. Find out how much with our Fuel Savings and Cost Calculator!". A smartphone is also shown displaying the website's mobile interface.
